

YOUR JOURNEY CONTINUES HERE

continuing studies for adults

meeting your challenges

Since its founding in 1884, Temple University has been a place where working adults can further their education and experience.

Whether you're just beginning your advanced education or returning to the college classroom, Temple's adult Continuing Studies can help you navigate a path to success. Our programs are designed to meet the needs of adult learners who are often balancing the demands of a career, family and school.

With multiple campuses in Philadelphia, Ambler and Harrisburg, Temple offers graduate, undergraduate and continuing education courses during the day, evening and online. You can choose the times, courses and locations that enable you to reach your specific goals.

Our support for adult students goes far beyond the courses we offer. From the application process to the services available, our mission is to assist you on your journey forward as you expand your future.

GETTING STARTED

What Do You Want to Study?

Temple University has 17 schools and colleges that offer an abundance of courses and majors to inspire and challenge you. Browse Temple's degrees and certificates, and find the program to launch or advance your career. temple.edu/academics/degree-programs

Graduate Application

Requirements for graduate admissions vary by school or college. Additional information, application procedures and forms are available on each individual school or college site. grad.temple.edu

Continuing Studies Application

The Office of Continuing Studies serves students working toward undergraduate, graduate or professional school admissions, and assist with professional development, personal enrichment, or taking courses to transfer to other colleges. Continuing studies students can earn college credit, but are not admitted into a degree program. temple.edu/arc

Noncredit

The Office of Non-Credit and Continuing Education offers a wide variety of noncredit courses and certificate programs at the Ambler and Center City campuses that may help you to prepare for a new job, get ahead in your current job or explore new directions. noncredit.temple.edu

Undergraduate Application

To apply for undergraduate admission, start by filling out an application online using either the Temple Application or the Common Application. Standardized testing is not required. Temple University's Office of Undergraduate Admissions offers information sessions and campus tours throughout the year. Contact Admissions for further details and specific timing. admissions.temple.edu

Transfer Application

If you've successfully taken 15 or more college-level credits after high school graduation, you could be considered for transfer admission. To apply as a transfer student, visit the Office of Undergraduate Admissions online for step-by-step instructions. admissions.temple.edu/transfer

OF CAMPUSES

Main

Located in Philadelphia, our Main Campus pulses with vibrant energy generated by more than 11,000 students living on or around campus. Outside of class, students participate in a diverse range of activities on campus and in the city. Temple has more than 300 student organizations, 18 Division I sports teams, and over 1,000 arts and music events on campus each year. Take the Broad Street Line a few stops south to find yourself in the center of Philadelphia's thriving food and restaurant scene, shopping districts, museums, galleries, and cultural venues. Proximity to downtown Philadelphia affords Temple students the excitement of a big city without giving up the close-knit feel of a traditional campus setting.

Ambler

Located in Montgomery County about 30 minutes outside of Philadelphia, Temple Ambler offers the convenience of a suburban campus with the academic and extracurricular benefits of a world-class university. Sustainability is at the heart of Ambler: student and faculty initiatives include environmentally focused courses and research centers, an Ambler Campus Sustainability Counsel, and the Ambler Arboretum's diverse range of learning gardens.

Center City

Since its creation in 1973, Temple University Center City has offered wide-ranging, innovative courses that meet the needs of a diverse community. In addition to graduate and undergraduate degree programs, students will also find an expansive mix of classes for career advancement or simply for personal enrichment. The campus offers an alternative site to take certain courses in conjunction with coursework at Main Campus. Undergraduate students can study at Main Campus and choose to take courses in Center City. This campus serves adult and continuing education students, so classes are offered primarily in the evenings and on weekends.

Harrisburg

Located across from the state capitol in Strawberry Square, Temple University Harrisburg supports the university's role in the public discourse on social and policy issues. It provides excellent educational programs, professional development opportunities, public policy discussions, innovative research and community engagement activities. Harrisburg also offers certificate programs and professional development opportunities for working adults.

STAYING ON TRACK

Academic Advising Centers help you succeed as a student at Temple. You should arrange academic advising appointments during the semester by contacting your school or college's advising center. Many centers also have walk-in advising hours. Meeting regularly with your advisor can resolve questions about degree requirements, course selections and graduation checks, and minimize the time to graduate. temple.edu/vpus/advising/index.html

The Bursar's Office will keep you informed about your school finances. Temple's Student Loan & Money Management Center can help you master financial factors to aid in your personal financial health. bursar.temple.edu

On-campus Housing may be available for full-time students. We can also advise you on off-campus housing options, including providing you with access to our database of off-campus apartment listings. housing.temple.edu

The Career Center provides information on internships, job and career fairs, and postgraduate options. The center hosts career assessments and can help you explore and develop your goals while learning effective ways to market yourself and your talents to desirable industry employers. Many of these tools are available online. temple.edu/provost/careercenter

Disability Resources and Services (DRS)

enables Temple students with disabilities to access a full range of opportunities and services available through the university. DRS promotes a campus environment in which accommodating students with disabilities is a natural extension of the university's mission. disabilityresources.temple.edu

Student Health Services provides affordable, accessible and high quality primary healthcare to the eligible student community at Temple. All sites are staffed by board-certified physicians, nurse practitioners, RNs and medical assistants.

Located on the fourth floor of 1700 North Broad St, Main Campus. See website for other locations and hours.
